Four Apps to help you Learn English fast

There are several apps to help you to learn English quickly.

We've taken a look at them and found four of the best.

1. Tandem

In order to speak English fast, you'll need lots of speaking practice. The most efficient way is with 1-on-1 tutoring. However, Tandem is a good way to get free language practice.

It's a language exchange app which enables you to connect with other learners around the world. It can help you to find a "speech buddy", that is a native English speaker who wants to learn your native language. The idea is that you can "buddy up" and practise speaking in English and then your buddy practises speaking your native language.

Tandem is more flexible than a lot of language exchange apps and has more options. You can meet up with real people for a short chat or for longer periods to test your English skills.

2. Quizlet

Quizlet is a flashcard app for learning vocabulary.

Their advantage is that you can learn lots of words quickly. The disadvantage is that you don't learn the context of the words.

With Quizlet, you can create flashcards from English words you are trying to learn, and practise them until you know them. It's a simple but effective concept, which can become addictive.

3. Beelinguapp

The Beelinguapp shows you a text in your own language with the English translation next to it. The texts are short and cover topics ranging from fairytales, to recent news articles. This makes reading in English a lot easier.

Reading can significantly improve your grammar and increase your vocabulary.

What's more the basic version of Beelinguapp is free.

4. SoundCloud

SoundCloud - Music & Songs

Of course, SoundCloud is not a language learning app but it is probable that you already use it, or a similar app, for listening to music and podcasts. One effective method of learning English quickly is to integrate something that you already use into your study schedule. If you already use SoundCloud, or a similar app, then think up ways that you can use it for learning English.

For example, you can subscribe to some podcasts for English learners or download playlists of songs or make your own.

Singing songs is a fun and effective way to learn English. You can even practise in the shower but to be more effective print out and read the lyrics so that you can be sure of what they're singing; but don't try reading in the shower!

Conclusion

The four apps above will all help you to learn English quickly.

They are all ways that you can learn everyday English skills; integrate the English language into your daily life, and make learning English enjoyable.

You will still need to practise a lot to become fluent in English and getting 1-on-1 lessons from a native English speaking coach is very effective.
